COURSE SYLLABUS: HONORS SPANISH IV

---

Course Overview and Essential Skills

The fourth level language course applies fundamental grammatical concepts in a more sophisticated contextualized setting. This course develops: increased handling of idiomatic expressions to make the student's speech and written work authentic; greater skill in pronunciation, rhythm, and intonation; increased knowledge of the social, political, and environmental issues of the Spanish-speaking peoples; and progression in skills of listening, speaking, reading, and writing. Increased emphasis will be placed on the study of literature and on social norms within the countries of the target language. Many themes are taught within the historical context of the language. Classroom instruction and discussion of grammar are almost exclusively in the target language. Students will also supplement their language instruction by watching video clips from a language program called Destinos where grammar, vocabulary and culture combine in authentic conversation. Furthermore, students will acquire language and cultural concepts through a song of the week by popular Latin artists. Students are expected to exhibit greater independence in their own acquisition of the language especially within the previously learned and newly acquired grammar concepts. This course also provides preparation for the AP program.
